"ETERNAL CITY" IN PICTURE FORM READY FOR STAGE

Film Version of Hall Caine
Play to Be Shown at Astor Theatre.

When the original dramatization of Hall Caine's great romance of modern Rome, "The Eternal City," was played for a whole year on Broadway by Viola Allen and a notable company, including the late E. J. Morgan and E. M. Holland, a young man by the name of Ford first came to the front as a stage director. Ford is a famous theatrical name, and this scene of the family proceeded to "High" his way to the front rapidly with such production as "The Daughter of Heaven" and "Joseph and His Brothers."

Accordingly when Adolph Zukor secured the motion picture rights to "The Eternal City," he engaged Hugh Ford to collaborate with Mr. Edwin S. Porter, producing manager of the Famous Players-Lasker Company. These two directors in charge of the Famous Players Company, went to Rome and filmed the romance amid the scenes described by the author. Ford knew every trick and turn of the stage version, while Porter knew how to translate them into photo play effects, and both revealed in the wealth of realistic scenery at their command in historic Rome.

Accordingly "The Eternal City," as it will be seen at the Astor Theatre beginning next Monday, proves that American actors and directors can rival the Italians on their own ground. The cast of the photo play, headed by Pauline Frederick as Donna Anna, is on a par with that of the original stage production dramatically, while pictorially "The Eternal City" is presented with realistic atmosphere and scenic effects that could never be achieved upon any acting stage.

Nothing could have been more alive with incident and human interest than the filming of "The Eternal City" in its own scenery, and that very experience helped us to visualize the story on the screen," said Hugh Ford. "You see, when an American, accustomed to the more or less grotesque, businesslike methods of our own country, runs into that very ceremonial side of Italy which surrounds the Vatican, he is treading upon delicate ground. Whereas in this country it is a comparatively simple matter to secure permits to take motion pictures in public places, while private property may readily be rented for the purpose, in Rome there are but only two governments to be dealt with—the Quirinal and the Vatican—but there are many traditions and popular superstitions to be respected."

For instance, the custom of delivering a funeral oration, after the fashion set by Marc Antony in "Julius Caesar," is still followed. Mr. Porter and I were obliged to suspend operations one whole morning while a modern Marc Antony delivered an oration over the body of one who must have been a great Caesar, judging from his remarks. It would have made an interesting moving picture, but being warned that it might hurt the feelings of the mourners we did not take it, for we didn't want to provoke a repetition of the famous mob scene.

"We did get some exciting scenes during the street car strike by persuading the leaders to let Thomas Holding address a meeting. He spoke in English as many of the lines Hall Caine has given to the character he was impersonating—David Rossi—and the assemblage cheered him heartily, although probably few understood what he was saying. However, he passed as an English socialist, and the camera caught it all—which was thoroughly satisfactory to all concerned. Thus we have a record of such scenes as are actually taking place in Rome now."

PICKPOCKETS' NEMESIS HAS BAD HALF HOUR

Finds "Dip" Took Gloves and Papers, but Learns Finally It Was a Joke.

Detective Frank Casanova, the pickpocket expert of the Central Office, who frequently shows his friends by practical demonstration how easy a "dip" can strip a victim, was the victim himself to-day of a practical joke.

He had his pocket picked in true dip style while standing outside the Special Sessions Court room in the Criminal Courts Building. He lost a pair of gloves and a bundle of memoranda.

Casanova started to tell Billy Fuller, Clerk of Court, about a case. Reaching for his memoranda, he found it was gone.

"Gee," he shouted, "my gloves and papers have been swiped."

Half an hour's search failed to find the articles, and then a messenger boy handed Casanova a bundle containing the gloves and papers.

"Where did you get them?" he asked the boy.

"From a guy who told me to say to you just three words," replied the boy. "They are: 'The bitter bit.'"

General Manager of Herald Dead. Dulaney Howland, for many years general manager of the New York Herald, died to-day at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. David McClure, No. 33 West Forty-ninth Street. He was operated on for appendicitis a week ago and complications which resulted fatally soon set in. Mr. Howland was the son of the late Mr. Howland, a prominent New York City lawyer. His widow was Miss Margaret McClure.

Seventeen-Year-Old Girl Missing. Amelia Amora, seventeen, of No. 484 West Twenty-sixth Street, to-day was reported missing from her home by her mother. When last seen at 8 A. M. Tuesday Amelia wore a blue coat and skirt, white blouse, and black shoes and stockings. She was five feet tall and weighs 125 pounds. She has black eyes and hair and a light complexion.

BLAMES INCENDIARY FIRES UPON THE WAR

Commissioner Adamson Declares in Lecture That Conflict Has Increased Arson.

"The present European war has had an influence on the number of fires in New York during the last year," said Fire Commissioner Robert Adamson during a lecture at Cooper Union last night. The Commissioner was speaking of the work of the department in preventing incendiary fires and prosecuting those who set them.

He said that the financial depression caused by the war was obviously the cause of many of these fires. The number of incendiary fires each year, the Commissioner said, was large, but the difficulty of proving the crime was so great that it was impossible to fix the proportion of "business fires," although authorities had fixed the proportion as high as 40 per cent. He said that fire insurance policies were too easily obtained in America.

Fall Into Artery Kills Boy of Seventeen.

While at play with companions in front of No. 232 East Eighty-seventh Street last night Philip Becker, seventeen, of No. 1692 Second Avenue, fell from a railing into an artery. He was picked up unconscious by his friends, who revived him. The boy told his people nothing of the accident and when he later relapsed into unconsciousness and died his parents could not explain it. Dr. Helen of Reception Hospital said the boy died from a fractured skull.

Children Dead, Turned On Gas. Despondent because of the death of two of his three children in the past year, Morris Olof, thirty-seven years old, a tailor, committed suicide by inhaling gas in the bathroom of his home at No. 216 Christopher Avenue.

SCREAMED WITH THE PAIN

"Fruit-a-tives" Completely Relieved Kidney Trouble

"In 1912 I was laid up with KIDNEY TROUBLE. The pain at times was excruciating and my screams could be heard on the street. One day a friend from Ottawa came to see me and finding me in such poor health, said he would send me a sample of 'Fruit-a-tives,' which he did, and I commenced taking them. The results were so apparent with the first few doses that I continued to take 'Fruit-a-tives,' and was completely restored to my normal health. I would strongly advise anyone suffering with Kidney Trouble to take FRUIT-A-TIVES."—Charles A. Calvert, St. Thomas, Ont., April 1st, 1914.

DOCTOR'S WIFE KILLED BY DRUG SHE USED TO PUT HER TO SLEEP

Dr. Rising Finds Her Unconscious and Two Other Physicians Fail to Revive Her.

Mrs. Margaret Rising, wife of Dr. Eugene H. Rising, a specialist, died in her home in the Bronx, No. 35 West Eighty-first Street, at 4 o'clock this morning from the effect of an overdose of morphine taken, Dr. Rising says, to quiet her nerves as she could sleep.

Dr. Rising told Detective McCarton, who at 4:30 o'clock went to investigate the death, that Mrs. Rising had been very nervous for a year and had on the prescription of a physician taken from himself, two taking morphine to induce sleep.

Dr. Rising called Dr. Morris Gross of No. 134 West Seventy-seventh Street and another physician. The three worked over Mrs. Rising for two hours, but could not revive her. Mrs. Rising was the mother of two small children, the younger one being two years old. Before her marriage she was Miss Margaret Shannon, a member, according to Dr. Gross, of a prominent New York family. Dr. Rising was portrayed by the tragic accident.

FRUIT LAXATIVE FOR MAMMA, DAD, BABY, "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS"

Better than calomel, oil or salts for liver, bowels and stomach.

Mother, daddy and the children can always keep feeling fine by taking this delicious fruit laxative as occasion demands. Nothing else cleanses the stomach, liver and bowels so thoroughly without griping.

You take a little at night and in the morning all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and fermenting food delayed in the bowels gently moves out of the system. When you awaken all headache, indigestion, sourness, foul taste, bad breath, fever and dizziness is gone; your stomach is sweet, liver and bowels clean, and you feel grand.

"California Syrup of Figs" is a family laxative. Every one from grandpa to baby can safely take it and no one is ever disappointed in its pleasant action. Millions of mothers know that it is the ideal laxative to give cross, sick, feverish children. But get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups on each bottle. Refuse with contempt the cheaper Fig Syrups and counterfeits. See that it bears the name—California Fig Syrup Company.—Advt.

HARRY LAUDER World-famous Scotch Comedian, says:

"Tuxedo, for mildness, purity and fragrance, THE tobacco for me. With my pipe filled with good old TUXEDO, all my troubles go up in smoke. In all my world-wide travels I've yet to find its equal as a slow-burning, cool-tasting, sweet-flavored tobacco. TUXEDO satisfies me completely."

Harry Lauder

Tuxedo Keeps the World in Good Humor

Here is the man whose life work is to make millions of people happy. In pursuing his call, he travels the wide world over. He is a great lover of his pipe, and in all sorts of corners of the earth he has tried all sorts of tobaccos.

What is his unqualified statement in regard to Tuxedo? Read it again: "I've yet to find its equal." This is the frank and candid opinion of thousands and thousands of experienced, judicious smokers. Tuxedo is absolutely the best all-around tobacco that modern tobacco science can make.

Tuxedo
The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

Uncorking a tin of Tuxedo is like lifting the lid on concentrated sunshine. And then, when you fire up! Well! The first puff's a revelation, the second's a revolution, the third just gets you happy-like! Then you're off—just as sure as you'll see the green grass and hear the birds sing next Spring.

The exclusive "Tuxedo Process" brings out the unsurpassed mildness, delicate fragrance and mellow flavor of the Burley leaf in a way that has never been successfully imitated. At the same time it refines the tobacco until every trace of harshness and "bite" disappears.
